FORMAZIONE PER IMPRESE E CITTADINI

Staff involved in the European projects:

Venanzio Volpe, Head of Training Services.

With more than 35 years of experience, he is responsible for all the educational activities.

He has been the head of the design and operators areas in Emit Feltrinelli since 2005.

He is graduated in Physics at the State University of Milan.

During his working career he has always been involved in training first as a teacher, then as a trainer and a coordinator and finally as Head of Training Services.

Matteo Valsasina, Project Designer

He began his working career as a student and intern at the Emit Feltrinelli foundation.

Thanks to the acquisition of strong IT technical skills, he became a trainer of higher technical training courses and then a training designer.

Currently he is in charge of designing and planning IT courses for young, unemployed people, first job seekers and people to retrain.

Lucia Zucchella, Project Designer

She graduated in Political Sciences and specialized in International Politics at the University of Pavia.

Her duties in Emit Feltrinelli are designing and managing social and European projects, such as those related to the inclusion of migrants and disadvantaged people.

She has over 15 years experience in social design in Italy.

In the foundation there are 12 permanent employees divided into different areas:

1. Design area: designers look for opportunities, create projects and look after their development and educational activities
2. Operation area: operators deal with practical and managerial activities and the relationship with users, citizens and companies. They are also in charge of secretarial activities.
3. Administrative area: the employees of this area are in charge of the economic reporting, budget and management control.
4. IT Service area: IT technicians guarantee the functioning of all the IT tools used within the foundation and of the laboratories where lessons are held (virtual ones included).

TRAINERS: in addition to permanent staff, the foundation appoints trainers based on the training needs expressed by companies or in relation to the specific teaching subjects needed by the labor market. They are self-employed trainers, freelancers, university professors, experts, specialized technicians and so on.

LEARNERS: every year the foundation trains hundreds of learners of all kind.
